N. Y. Convention

Democrats are having the Presidential sweats in New York this week. At this time it is a guess as to who will head the national ticket. Virginia is for Senator Glass. The delegates think they will be for any man in a deadlock except McAdoo, and Senator Glass stands for McAdoo. Personally we would favor most any of the candidates except Governor Smith. And yet with Tammany backing Smith, we have our fears.

If the party is wise and select a candidate who has the confidence of the people the Democrats will win the presidency. We no more expect the Democrats to adopt Ku Klux Klan and Prohibition planks than we did of the Republican Convention. Both parties will dodge these issues.

At a meeting of the friends of the Historic Highway of Virginia, held in Lynchburg Saturday a permanent organization was perfected. Among those attending from Appomattox were: R. L. Burke, J. A. Burke, Ragland Featherstone and A. H. Clement. Lynchburg's business men are greatly interested in the project and as Appomattox, the birth place of the Union of States, is on the route our people are also interested. A splendid banquet was given the visitors and the

Contracts Upheld

In upholding the iron-clad contract which 95,000 tobacco farmers have signed to insure the orderly marketing of their crop, the tobacco association has met and overcome every conceivable defense including unconstitutionality restraint of trade, mismanagement, failure to secure requisite sign-up fraud, mistake, denial of ownership of tobacco, wife's tobacco, minor son's tobacco, daughters tobacco, judgment lien and mortgage, already reported success in the courts of three states has strengthened its legal position during two years of operation.

The Oregon Primary Law

The District Primary law that prohibits party conventions is great. It does away with leadership, leaves the voter to register and vote with any party or no party, or to change parties every year. But best of all it matches in perfectly with the great device of the age—passing the buck. No one is responsible for anything a legislator or public official does.

He Did It

"Hey, pap," said flank Hayfoot, somewhat truculently, "lookit here." "All right, I'm a-lookin'."

"What did you do with that cord of hickory I sawed and split before I went to the county seat?"

"Fed the stove with it endurin' of that last blizzard."

"Dad burn it!"

"That's what I done," said dad cheerfully.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHOD approved by State & Government Experts

Contrary to the general belief that boll weevils must be eradicated or reduced in numbers by expensive poisoning in order to produce a cotton crop, it has been proved by successful farmers that increased yields and profits may be had under boll weevil conditions in spite of the weevil and without the use of poisons, where the infestation is not too heavy. Most of the steps required are included in what may be called "better farming," as they have to do mainly with the growth and culture of the plant, they are generally known as "cultural methods of boll weevil control."

However, the foregoing statement should not be understood to mean that poison is not required to produce a maximum yield and profit. Cultural methods should go hand in hand with the use of poison and by the use of both in the proper way a profitable crop is assured. Use of cultural methods alone is practicable only when conditions are such that poison can not be used and when the infestation is slight.

Where no poison will be used it is especially important to use for cotton only the most fertile, well-drained soils where the yielding ability is good and, if possible, located away from woods which might shelter weevils in the winter. To reduce the weevil attack cotton should not follow cotton. A change of crops reduces insect attack and increases yields.

Beating the boll weevil depends not on an extra early date of planting but on the crop making a very rapid growth after it is planted. Early preparation of the ground, so there will be a firm, smooth and well settled seed bed at planting time, is very important. Planting should be delayed until all danger from frosts and cold is past and the soil is warm enough to insure quick, sprouting, rapid growth and a good stand.

Shallow cultivation should be given every week or ten days, and continued as late as necessary to keep the crop free from weeds and grass. Cultivation promotes the growth and fruiting of the plant, but does not kill boll weevils directly. It is a safe and proven fact that with heavy or light infestation of the weevils, with the application or without the application of poison, better farming pays under any and all conditions.

Further information may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture, or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney Building, New Orleans, La.

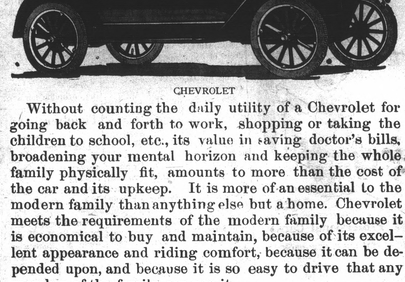
Health Insurance for the Whole Family



CHEVROLET

Without counting the daily utility of a Chevrolet for going back and forth to work, shopping or taking the children to school, etc., its value in saving doctor's bills, broadening your mental horizon and keeping the whole family physically fit, amounts to more than the cost of the car and its upkeep. It is more of an essential to the modern family than anything else but a home. Chevrolet meets the requirements of the modern family because it is economical to buy and maintain, because of its excellent appearance and riding comfort, because it can be depended upon, and because it is so easy to drive that any member of the family can use it.

Prof. Crawley has at last effected a settlement with the Highway forces for the right-of-way through the Fair Grounds. The Board of Directors sold the Highway an option for $500, which amount the Highway people considered too much and postponed payment, until Mr. Henley visited the grounds last week and viewed the situation with Mr. Crawley. Today he sends in his check for $500.00 to the Fair Association to close the transaction.

Monday Sheriff McKinney and Deputy O'Connor hiked off to Spring Mills in search of lawbreakers. They searched the premises of Horsefly Watson and found many articles which had been stolen from citizens of the county. Wheat harvest this week and we hope a good crop will be made.

Lawson — Ferguson

Miss Rachel Ferguson, the attractive daughter of Senator and Mrs. S. L. Ferguson, was married Tuesday to Raymond Lawson, both of this place. The wedding was held at home at 2 o'clock, in the presence of a few of their most intimate friends. Miss Ferguson graduated from the High School here seven al years ago and then went to Woman's College in Lynchburg. The groom is a very promising young business man of this town, manager for the Ould-Lawson Hardware Co. The party left by automobile for Richmond and other points, and will be at home June 30th on Lee Street.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. L. F. Callaham, of North Garden, a former pastor of the bride. The beautiful home of the bride's parents was tastefully decorated in pink and green, and her sister, Miss Virginia, played the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, while Miss Ruth Clement sang "At Dawning."

The pair is among our popular set here and all wish them happiness.
